

SCHROEDER GIRL WILL CONFESS TO ANOTHER CRIME

Says Conscience Bothered
Her; Alleged Innocent
Men in Jail

APPEARS CHEERFUL

Death Sentence for Murder of Brady Paul Apparently Doesn't Worry Her

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Mar. 22.—(INS)—Irene Schroeder will take the first step to purge her conscience on Monday when she plans an open confession to participation in a hold-up and robbery in Moundsville, W. Va., for which an allegedly innocent man is now serving a ten-year prison sentence at the West Virginia State Penitentiary.

This was learned on reliable authority by International News Service today.

The "gun girl," now in the shadow of the death chair, was not suspected of implication in the hold-up at the time and suspicion since has not fallen upon her.

Irene's conscience "has been bothering her," it was learned today, and she will confess to the hold-up in order to free the prisoner on Monday. Her identity was not disclosed. Pennsylvania's most notorious woman bandit was cheerful and unconcerned in her cell today. She rose early, called for a washbasin and calmly proceeded to wash her clothes.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Mar. 22.—The army of witnesses, newspapermen and spectators who came to testify, to write and to hear at the trial of Irene Schroeder and who created a halo of romance about the unromantic Irene, today were enroute to their homes—or to the next murder case—leaving behind a despairing, pudgy girl awaiting death in the electric chair.

The "trigger woman" has pressed the cold trigger of a gun for the last time.

In almost record time, the jury of ten men and two women filed back into the courtroom here last night and pronounced Irene guilty of murder in the first degree. There was no recommendation of life imprisonment, making it mandatory for Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand to sentence Irene to the death chair for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the State Highway Patrol.

Only two ballots were taken by members of the jury who deliberated but two hours and 43 minutes in reaching their verdict, it was learned from authentic sources. The first ballot resulted in all twelve jurors agreeing on the first degree verdict but with one member holding out for life imprisonment. The next ballot found a unanimous poll on the first degree verdict, with no dissenters from the death chair sentence.

Irene smiled weakly when she was called into the courtroom at 9.25 o'clock last night to hear the verdict. The smile was still in evidence two minutes later when her doom was pronounced, but there was a hint of terror in the trembling lips of Pennsylvania's publicized "gun girl."

Thomas D. Dickey, chief of defense counsel, today began preparing argument for a new trial. It is believed that Dickey will move for a new trial on Monday, probably on the ground that the court erred in refusing to admit the planned defense based on an "irresistible impulse to crime" plea.

Denial of Dickey's motion would pave the way for pronouncement of sentence. It is believed that Dickey's last desperate effort to save Irene will fail—that the trail of crime and banditry she blazed across the continent will end with Irene taking the last few steps from the death cell at Rockview Penitentiary, through the "little green door" into the execution chamber where waits the oaken death chair.

RESURRECTS TANDEM

(By the Stroller)

A novel way of entertaining his girl friends was hit upon this week by "Danny" Halpin, Hayes street, when he unearthed in the family store-room a tandem bicycle.

Pleased with the "find," "Danny" made his way to the street with the two-seated cycle, and was not wanting in friends. In fact they appeared faster than the demand for rides could be attended to.

Older folks, passing by or glancing out their windows, let their thoughts revert to the days when cycling on the one-seated affairs and on tandems also, was all the "rage."

BRISTOL TOWNSHIP COW HOLDS COUNTY RECORD

Champion of the Year Belongs to C. Ralph Powell

GAVE 18,286 LBS. MILK

According to the annual report which has just been completed by Clarence Daniels, tester of Group No. 1 of the Bucks County Herd Improvement Association, out of the 550 cows in this group 147 have been found unprofitable and have been sold and most of them have been replaced by purebreds.

Statistics show in this report that during the past year a herd average of 408.74 cows produced 8395 pounds of milk and 327.1 pounds of butter fat per cow. This is an increase over the production last year, when the herd average of 363.18 cows produced 8144 pounds of milk and 320.4 of butter fat per cow.

Nervin Weller, tester of Group No. 2, of the same association, has also completed his report for the year and a comparison of the two reports shows that M. C. Permar, Fountainville, had the highest herd average for the year, both in milk and butterfat. He had an average of 10.67 registered and grade Holsteins which produced 12,165 pounds of milk and 419.2 pounds of butterfat per cow. Willis M. Hunsberger, Plumsteadville, who had an average herd of 13.50 registered and grade Holsteins cows, ranked second. His herd during the past year produced 11,982 pounds of milk and 414.6 pounds of butterfat per cow.

A further survey of the report shows that two other dairymen in the county were within the 400 pound class. J. P. Canby & Son, Hulmeville, had a herd average of 37.55 of registered Holstein cows which produced 11,976 pounds of milk and 402.8 pounds of butterfat per cow. C. R. Powell, Bristol, had a herd average of 13.55 of registered Holsteins which produced 11,412 pounds of milk and 400.9 pounds of butterfat during the past year.

The champion cow for the year according to this report, belonged to C. Ralph Powell, Bristol. This cow, "Delmar," 1093227, a registered Holstein, produced 18,286 pounds of milk and 718.6 pounds of butterfat.

"Blossom," 751292, a registered Holstein belonging to J. P. Canby & Son, Hulmeville, took second place in milk and butterfat production during the year. This cow produced 15,423 pounds of milk and 579.7 pounds of butterfat.

Mr. Weller's statistics show that there was a decrease in the average production of milk and butterfat in Group No. 2 during the past year. Last year the average number of cows in Group 2 was 363.18. They produced an average of 8214 pounds of milk and 331.8 pounds of butterfat. This year the herd average was 291.74 and these cows produced on an average 8164 pounds of milk and 319 pounds of butterfat.

It was found that the value of the product above the feed cost in Group 1 was $182.30 per cow, while in Group 2 it was found that the value of the product above the cost of feed was $156.69.

Other statistics based on the cow average in Group 1 were as follows: percentage of butterfat, 3.9; value of product, $321.25; cost of roughage, including pasture, $59.25; cost of grain, $79.70; total cost of feed, $138.95; re-

KIWANIANS URGE FARMS FOR CRIMINALS

Think First Offenders Should Be Given Better Care
By the State

HOLD ART EXHIBIT

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 22.—Better care of Pennsylvania's criminal first offenders was advocated here yesterday at the convention of Kiwanis Clubs of Southeastern Pennsylvania, attended by 200 prominent business and professional men from twelve cities and towns.

Robert C. Ross, a past president of the Glenside Club, and the Rev. Herbert Weaver, of the Chester Club, advocated the establishment of farms in the State where first offenders can be properly trained and corrected, and the expulsion of politicians from control of such institutions as State reformatories and jails.

Clubs from Doylestown, Philadelphia, Norristown, Ambler, Old York Road, Main Line, Chester, Chester Pike, Sellersville, Lansdale, Quakertown and Glenside were represented at the conference this afternoon. Tonight at the divisional dinner, at which time the Doylestown Club was the host, Charles H. Grakelov, former Director of Public Welfare of Philadelphia, and Charles Bonley, of Pittsburgh, governor of the Kiwanis Clubs of Pennsylvania, were the principal speakers.

Reports were made of club activity in erection of recreation centers, establishing child health centers, building Boy Scout cabins and entertainment and care for the underprivileged children of many communities.

Among the conference speakers were C. L. Gooding, dean of National Farm School; Dr. Carman Ross, superintendent of the Doylestown schools, and lieutenant governor of the Southeast division, who presided at the conference; Dr. John McDonald, Norristown; Jesse Arbuckle, Ambler; Jacob Fisher, Norristown, state treasurer of Kiwanis; Ralph Smith, the Rev. Alfred N. Sayres, Lansdale; W. T. B. Roberts, 2d, Glenside, and Franklin K. Kean.

EDGELY STUDENTS PRESENT PROGRAM

Interesting Numbers Given At Meeting of Parent-Teacher Association

HOLD ART EXHIBIT

EDGELY, Mar. 22.—An interesting program was presented before the members of the Parent-Teacher Association in the public school Thursday evening, at the close of the business session.

A number of students of the sixth and seventh grades prepared short sketches of the lives of some of the most eminent artists which they read in connection with the art exhibit held at that time.

Following a song by the audience, papers on the following artists were given by: Leonardo diVinci, Ira Walferlek; Sancio Raphael, Gertrude Dunbar; Franz Hals, Ralph Bilderback; Joshua Reynolds, Anna Talt; Thomas Gainsborough, Dorothy McSherry; Joseph Rennell, Norene Wheeler; Rembrandt, William Haines.

A chorus, "Whispering Hope," was enjoyed, and a second selection, "Maybells and Flowers."

Description readings were given of the picture, "Song of the Lark," by Margaret Nickerson; and also one of "The Garden of Opportunity," by Genevieve Ensing.

One hundred and fifty pictures were on exhibit, and over 100 attended the session. Several members of the school board were also present, and the entire group was invited to remain to view the pictures and the work of the school students.

Musical selections were given by Mrs. H. S. Mills, accompanied by Mrs. Albert Dowden. Ira Brown, president of the school board, made a few remarks of great interest to the assembly.

Meetings of the organization take place on the third Thursday evening of each month.

RECALLS THE DAYS WHEN HERRING WERE PLENTIFUL

Canal Basin Teemed With The Fish Forty or Fifty Years Ago

THE OLD GRIST MILL

By "The Stroller"
(Contributed)

It has been said that the difference between a young man and an old man is: that the former looks with optimism into the future, while the latter finds pleasure and happiness in living over again in memory, the happenings and occurrences of the past. It always happens, when a group of old men get together, that their conversation invariably turns to pleasant reminiscences.

Listening in on some of the reminiscences of old men of Bristol it is noticed that much interest centers around that period, some 40 or 50 years ago, when the canal basin was teeming with herring, and dip-net fishing was a popular pastime.

Old residents tell us that half a century ago, Bristol was called "Herring Town" and that if a visitor who came to the town, should taste a herring while here, he was always sure to return. In the early spring, the river was full of herring, and when the outlet locks at the "mouth-of-the-apron" were opened to let the canal boats out or in, the herring would rush in in schools.

The old grist mill which stood at the foot of Pond street, was operated by a large water wheel, and the water as it was emptied from the buckets which covered the outside of the wheel, ran out through an arch into a small stream, which emptied into the basin. This water coming from the wheel produced a current in the stream, which attracted the herring.

A wooden bridge crossed this stream, and along its side was a wharf upon which lumber was piled. When herring fishing was in season, the fishermen used a peculiar contrivance called a dip-net, and fished with it from the bridge and the wharf. Sometimes when herring were plentiful, as many as a dozen or fifteen dip-nets would be in operation at one time.

The dip-net was knitted with gill-net twine the same as was used in knitting shad-net and when laid on the ground, ready for the bows, it was five or six feet square. The bows were bent from the diagonal corners, and were tied together where they crossed at the top, and then fastened to a long pole. It required some skill and dexterity to push the net down to the bottom and still keep it upright. After leaving it remain on the bottom for a minute, it was drawn up and if any herring were crossing the net at the time they were caught and emptied out of the net on the shore. The herring ran in schools, and sometimes when the dip-net was raised at the psychological moment, twenty-five, thirty and as high as fifty herring were caught in one dip.

The old residents tell us, that when

"TIMES HAVE CHANGED," SAYS WOMAN, AGED 98

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Hulmeville, Gives Views of Styles, Airplanes, Etc.

HAD A VERY BUSY LIFE

HULMEVILLE, Mar. 22.—There's a vast difference between the days of 1850 and these of 1930 according to Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, of this borough, who just recently celebrated her 98th birthday anniversary.

The change in the style of dress of the "fifties" and now is quickly noted by the one who has lived nearly a century. Speaking about the length of skirts during the past few years Mrs. Smith expressed her dislike for the short ones. "But they're getting longer now," remarked the one to whom she was talking. "Well, it's about time," was the quick response. "I think they are prettier when they are long," continued the smiling little great-grandmother. "I suppose the short ones are handier though. There's no danger of getting them muddy." When the topic was veered to that of hoop-skirts she said with a slight frown, "Oh, I hated them. I remember one year when they were in when I was a young girl. Why, if you didn't sit down just right, they would clasp right up."

It was on March 8th in the year 1832 that Mrs. Smith was born in Bensalem Township, and her life on a farm at that time was quite different from life on a farm today. Early in the morning would she arise, and milk four cows every day. "When I was young the girls were taught to milk, churn butter, make cottage-cheese, sew, and do many other things. But I always liked to work. It never worried me."

Speaking of the leisure time enjoyed today the one who has seen many years on this earth added "People don't have anything to do now. They don't have to make their own bread like we did, and they don't preserve and can as many things. After I was married I made all the clothes my children wore. We were always busy, but enjoyed life and had a good time too. We lived on a large farm, and my husband was a hog-butcher. That did mean plenty to do, for we always made our own sausage and scrapple, took care of the lard, and we knew that meat was clean." In leisure moments, during the evening Mrs. Smith said folks would sit about the house and read and talk.

"Parties! Why the parties are so different today than during my time. I remember there were two young men in the group I used to associate with who were good fiddlers. They would always take their fiddles with them when we visited friends. When we reached our farmhouse destination we were always made welcome. The people we visited would roll up the rugs and we would dance. Not the kind of dancing they tell me the young people do now, but the good old square dances. And these two young men would play their 'fiddles,' and they would call out 'swing your partners' and other orders. It didn't cost us anything for music."

The mode of transportation used was the horse and carriage, or the group would go afoot. "But the young folks start out so late now. We used to leave home at about seven o'clock, but now the boys and girls don't leave home until bedtime."

Again turning to method of transportation Mrs. Smith in her reminiscences called attention to the horse and "buggy." "People can move faster now with airplanes and automobiles," she said. "Would you like to have a ride in an airplane?" she was asked. "Indeed, I don't think I would," was

SPRING

Spring arrived yesterday with its one thousand and one suggestions. For all, it suggests surcease from the rigors of a heartless winter. And for some its suggestions, or a few of them are house-cleaning in the offing, vacation-time approaching, new automobiles, old automobiles to be overhauled, Easter clothes to be shopped for by some and paid for by others, last year's straw hats and summer suits to be rediscovered, garden seeds and faint dreams of fair harvests, automobile-billing, "parking parking," opening of the baseball season, bathing and beach censors.

Spring is one of the two neutral seasons of the year. The other is fall. Winter has its irreconcilables and summer its rank partisans, but spring strikes a happy medium. You can dread winter and adore summer or you may have a preference for winter over summer and retain a warm regard for the intermediate seasons.

Those who are reminded by spring of the hot weather to come should find solace in the thought that the coal man must live on his interest for six months and those who are concerned over the wear and tear of the new balloon tires, which they know they will soon undergo, have the consolation that the strain on the rags and furniture at home will be relieved.

BE BRIEF

The world is in a hurry, please be brief.

Poor terminal facilities for authors and speakers often nullify all their excellent wisdom. A man may possess all kinds of useful knowledge, but fail in "discerning when to have done."

Brevity is the touchstone of success in any field. You may offend your customer, your reader or your hearer in one respect and please him in another. But if you tire him with your tediousness, you lose him altogether.

The newspaper leads the style today in pith and cogency and has educated the public to the expectation of receiving much in little. The well-executed cartoon will impart a whole philosophy of life at a glance, or provide silent comment on current events worth a column of words.

Brevity is the soul of wit. Yet they who have wit, or think they have, are in especial danger of saying too much. Some one has said: "It is better to say nothing and be thought a fool than to open the mouth and dispel all doubt."

Be brief!

The stuff that dreams are made of usually washes off.

Referring to automobiles the genial little lady said "I think autos are nice. But when you go out you don't know if you are coming back. But, I guess a lot of accidents are due to carelessness."

Four daughters and three sons has Mrs. Smith who is the widow of Asa Smith. A number of her grandchildren and great-grandchildren also live in this section. She resides with her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bilger, of Neshaminy street.

Confessed Burglars Held In $2,500 Bail for Court

The two men—Joseph Bowker, 27, Green Lane; and Gilmore Bishop, 38, 273 Cleveland street—who confessed after being arrested that they had robbed the office of Ambrose Pottery, on the night of March 11th, were given a hearing last night and held for court.

The men were heard by Justice Edward Lynn and both of the prisoners told the justice that the confessions which they had made to the police were true.

Justice Lynn held both of the prisoners in $2,500 bail for court.

They were taken to Doylestown this morning by the police.

PRELATE OPPOSES MOVE TO BRING BACK SALOONS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—(AP)—The move of the anti-prohibitionists for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was described as a revival of the Whiskey Insurrection of 1794 on a "larger and more dangerous basis" in a letter from Monsignor M. E. Foley, of Baltimore, presented at the prohibition hearing today.

Mgr. Foley said from his experience before prohibition in the Maryland city he regarded the old saloon as "lawless and a menace to order, decency and morality."

"The shouters for 'personal liberty' tell us they do not want to bring back the old saloon, but a heavenly resort where angels might gather and men may drink their fill of what they will and not get drunk, beat their wives, starve their children or commit murder," he wrote.—(Adv.)

Dual Celebration Takes Place At Home of Pieters, Edgely

Mrs. John J. Pieters, of North Radcliffe street, Edgely, was recently surprised by a number of her friends, who gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday anniversary.

A pleasant evening was spent playing games, singing and dancing. Harold Carter played several violin solos, while Miss Mary Mahan and David Jones sang numerous songs, which were enjoyed by all. At midnight a buffet supper was served to the guests. The rooms were attractively decorated in green and white crepe paper streamers, which gracefully hung from the corners to the center of the room, then over the dome light to the corners of the table. A large birthday cake with candles formed the centerpiece on the table and favors were paper hats and green and white baskets filled with candy.

During the evening, the guests presented Mrs. Pieters with a beautiful string of crystals with ear-rings to match. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. D. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Peterson, Miss Florence McIlheney, Miss Mary Mahan, Miss Nellie Mahan, all of Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Acker, of Doylestown; Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, of Torresdale; John Morrell, of Emillie; Miss Mary Virginia Roney and Mr. and Mrs. John Pieters, of Edgely.

Delores Pieters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pieters, of North Radcliffe street, Edgely, was six years old on the same day her mother celebrated her birthday anniversary. Delores entertained a few of her little friends in the afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. The kiddies had a good time playing various games and prizes were awarded to the following guests: Charles Weik, who carried the most beans, and Maria Jean White, for pinning the tail on the donkey. Refreshments were served in the dining room, the decorations used being green and white paper streamers, and each guest received a paper hat and a basket filled with candy. A large birthday cake was prominent in the center of the table. It was beautifully decorated with white icing made in the form of rose-buds and there were six green candles on the cake. During the afternoon the children presented Delores with many pretty birthday gifts, while her parents gave her a beautiful gold bracelet. Those who enjoyed this delightful party were: Marjorie Dugan, Myrtle Collier, Anna Oliver, Betty Harkins, Anna Ennis, Mary Ellen Mulhern, Jean Ennis, Maria Jean White, Dolores Pieters, Charles Weik, Joseph Dunn, Francis Fallon, Edward and Thomas Feehan, Ralph Molloy and Jack and Bobby Pieters.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

TULLYTOWN, March 22—

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Foster, of Brown street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lillian Foster, to Wilbert Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson, of Penns Manor.

Edgely Scouts Reorganize And So Does Committee

The Boy Scouts of Edgely have been reorganized as well as the troop committee. A meeting of the troop committee was recently held in Union Church and William O'Dea was named as chairman; Walter Stillwell, assistant; William Smyrl, treasurer; Donald Shively, advancement man; Evald Caulwine, outdoor man; Joseph Silbert, assistant; Percy Brown, publicity manager; Joseph Schofield, assistant; Elwood Britton, scoutmaster; George Tschada, assistant.

A committee meeting will be held Monday evening when plans will be made for the various scout activities. Big things are being planned by both the committee and the troop and much is expected.

Pocono Institute Pictures Shown at League Rally

Motion pictures and lantern slides of the Pocono Institute held during the past few years at Blair Academy, Blairstown, N. J., and at Stroudsburg, Pa., were shown at the bi-monthly rally of the Bristol Group, at Penns Park, last evening.

The pictures thrown upon the screen through the courtesy of E. K. Esser, of Philadelphia, were thoroughly enjoyed by the young people present. Mr. Esser told of proposed plans for the institute this year, expressing the hope that the sessions will be held at Blairstown.

Howard Phillips, president of the group, who presided at the meeting, introduced Miss Dorothy Nelland, of Philadelphia, who gave helpful suggestions for Epworth League Chapter work.

The invocation was made by Rev. T. Norton Hyde, pastor of the Newtown M. E. Church; the scripture reading being given by Rev. R. Nickerson, pastor of the hostess church.

A nominating committee consisting of Rev. Alexander B. Davidson, of Trevese; Rev. Nickerson; and Millwood Mather, of Langhorne, was appointed, the election to be held at the group meeting in Langhorne in May. Banner for percentage of members present was awarded to the Langhorne league; while the league having the largest delegation in attendance was Trevese.

Refreshments were served by the Penns Park league members.

STUDY MORSE CODE

Troop 5, Boy Scouts of Bristol, held its weekly meeting at the Harriman M. E. Church Thursday evening. The Morse code was studied and Harrison Leake, scoutmaster, announced that he would have patrol tables built.

Recalls the Days When Herring Were Plentiful

and boys running with dip-nets, from all sections of the town.

But today, all that remains of that interesting period in the town's history, is but a memory. The old wooden bridge has gone, the saw mill was destroyed by fire, the grist mill is still standing, but is used for other purposes, and the old stream where the herring stemmed the current, has been filled in with dirt.

One day in the early Springtime, Came sound of shuffling feet, A boy with a string of herring Went whistling down the street. 'Twas not the boy or his whistling, But that dangling streak of white, That brought back recollections That stirred me at the sight.

I thought of days of long ago, When I too was a boy, And the old dip-net with high bent bows Gave a thrill of greatest joy. Methought I stood upon the bridge That crossed the old mill stream And pushed the net down in its depths In my happy boyhood dream.

Next day I journeyed to the place I knew in days of yore, Where the stream was filled with herring And dip-nets lined the shore; But, oh, the disappointment, As I beheld the scene, The bridge that used to span the stream No longer could be seen.

The waterwheel was silent, too, The old grist mill the same, And other uses for it seemed To rob it of its fame. The saw-mill too had disappeared, Not a vestige now is left, And those who worked within its walls Have long since gone to rest.

I stood in the gathering twilight, Where the bridge had stood before, And tried to visualize the scene Back in those days of yore. Men seek for fame or fortune;— To me naught can be found Like the thrill of dip-net fishing, Herrin' hoppin' on the ground.

Evelyn Buck, of Mill street, is receiving treatment for illness in the Harriman Hospital. Mrs. Richard Bowman, of 246 Monroe street, is seriously ill at her home.

Musical Service of Merit Arranged by Church Choir

Chevrolet announces

A NEW

SERVICE POLICY

The Chevrolet Motor Company and its dealers are pleased to announce a new service policy—one of the most liberal ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

Put into force as a written agreement given to the purchaser by the Chevrolet dealer when the car is delivered—it offers the following provisions:

1 Every Chevrolet owner receives his car from the dealer in perfect condition—thoroughly lubricated, properly adjusted, and ready to operate efficiently from the first mile of ownership.

2 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection and adjustment of his car at the end of the first 500 miles of usage.

3 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection of his car every 1000 miles thereafter, so long as the car is in operation.

4 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free replacement of any part which may prove defective in workmanship or material, within the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty. This includes both parts and labor.

5 Provision number 4 will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States. As a result, the Chevrolet owner may travel to any part of the country, with assurance that the guarantee on materials and workmanship will remain in force.

This new policy constitutes proof of Chevrolet's high quality—for such liberal provisions could only be made in connection with a car built of fine materials to exacting standards of workmanship.

Back of this policy, and assuring its successful operation, is one of the most complete and efficient service organizations in the world.

There are more than 10,000 Authorized Chevrolet Dealer Service Stations in the United States alone. Each employs skilled mechanics thoroughly trained at Chevrolet Service Schools. Each has specially designed tools and machinery developed exclusively for Chevrolet service work. And each has on hand, at all times, an adequate stock of genuine Chevrolet replacement parts.

Chevrolet's flat-rate charges, including both parts and labor, are the lowest in the industry on many service operations! In considering the purchase of a low-priced automobile, think what this service means—in terms of lasting satisfaction, as well as in increased economy.

WHEN INDUSTRY COMES TO TOWN

The first thing a manufacturer seeking a new site for his business asks is this: What kind of Transportation facilities are available?

This question is of more importance than the cost of the building site, the availability of an adequate labor supply, or of anything else.

For manufacturers know that if they can be assured of Good Transportation Facilities they can obtain everything else they need.

Your street railway is one of the most important transportation facilities of the community.

Through long years of experience it has proved its ability to handle the transportation demands. It has increased the value of property all along its route. It has made possible the creation of new wealth.

It is indispensable to the prosperity of growing communities.

Bristol and vicinity are interested in the coming of new industries and the growth of those already located here.

We welcome the newcomers. We know that they will find this area unexcelled for manufacturing purposes.

They will find the Transportation Facilities here to be adequate to every demand upon them.
